

POSTPARTUM HOUSEHOLD STOCK-UP LIST

Stock these before baby arrives and you will not have to think about any of it during the early weeks. Most of this list is not about food. It is about making sure the basics are handled so your brain is free for the things that actually matter right now.

Kitchen consumables to stock up on:

- Parchment paper (buy in bulk, you will go through more than you think)
- Quart-size and gallon-size freezer bags □ Plastic wrap □ Foil □ Disposable aluminum 9x13 trays □ Masking tape □ Permanent marker

Kitchen equipment to check you have:

- Kitchen scale (optional) □ Dutch oven □ Standard loaf pans (at least 2)
- Standard 12-cup muffin tin(s) □ Sheet pans (at least 2) □ Wire cooling racks
- Silicone spatulas □ Waffle iron □ Mason jars in quart and pint sizes (for bone broth) □ 3-inch biscuit or round cookie cutter □ Sandwich cutter and sealer (if making Little Sealed Sandwiches) □ Slow cooker □ Pressure cooker □ Instant-read thermometer □ Food processor (for puff pastry) □ Cast iron skillet with a lid
- Immersion blender or countertop blender □ Fine-mesh strainer (for bone broth)

Postpartum recovery essentials:

- Maxi pads, heavy and regular □ Peri bottle □ Witch hazel pads □ Perineal numbing spray (for vaginal deliveries) □ Sitz bath (for vaginal deliveries) □ Stool softener (do not skip this one) □ Ibuprofen and acetaminophen □ Heating pad
- Postnatal vitamins

Breastfeeding and feeding supplies:

- Nursing pads □ Nipple cream □ Breast pump and all supplies if using □ Nursing bras in both day and sleep styles (the sleep versions are a game changer, and most first-time mamas do not know they exist until they need them)

Baby basics:

- Diapers in newborn and one size up □ Wipes (buy more than you think you need) □ Burp cloths □ White noise machine □ Baby carrier or wrap

Everyday household:

- Toilet paper (stock up, seriously) □ Paper towels □ Dish soap and dishwasher detergent □ Laundry detergent □ Comfortable loose postpartum clothing
- Nursing-friendly pajamas □ A water bottle you can open with one hand
- Bedside phone charger □ Electrolyte packets or drinks